these matches are often fought using hardcore rules, or at the very least rules that allow wrestlers to do more without being disqualified