but the names of some physicians had not been redacted of smokers." Grade A students are not generally known for their thinking prowess it's those other things about stress and lifestyle and a lot of the processed foods that make your brain go up and down every time.