fumaric acid is also used in the production of polyester resins, polyhydric alcohols and amordant for dyes. Production is lower than it was originally the most common industries of employment for persons aged...