they both are showing signs of cognitive impairment in your interactions with people of different beliefs, what similarities have you found? what should other jains know that may educate them about the merits of other faiths?

take 5 minutes each night and think about your day ahead when you will have time to eat create a plan and be able to change and adapt it if something goes crazy