there is a niche community of Arab gamers in the region who frequent gaming cafes, take part in tournaments and also do not mind investing in high-end monitors for personal use.

so let's take a look at historical returns over three years as these include 14 months of bear market.