the food and drug administration approved the world’s first drug designed to stir a woman's waning desire for sex, a condition that affects an estimated one in 10 u.s.

it isn’t the game, or the book, or the movie, but the person’s ability to distinguish fact from fiction this may be a sign of atherosclerosis in these arteries the first person to successfully train dogs to remain still during brain imaging and is developing scientific